

Energy Questionnaire

1. In shaping Canada's energy policy, how important do you consider each of the following:

Very important
 Important
 Unimportant
 Very unimportant

Promoting economic growth
 Protecting the environment
 Maintaining a steady energy supply
 The cost of energy
 Promoting export opportunities

2. Putting this another way, in shaping Canada's energy policy, what do you see as the biggest priority:

Protecting the environment
 Encouraging economic growth

3. As you may have heard, just last week, the Keystone XL Pipeline failed to get the necessary votes to pass the US Senate and therefore, it still lacks approval to proceed. In your view, overall, is this recent "No" vote on the Keystone Pipeline good news or bad news for:

Canada
 The Canadian economy
 The environment
 Canada-US relations

Good news
 Bad news
 Not Sure

4. And, what do you think will ultimately happen with the proposed Keystone XL Pipeline? Do you think:

It will go ahead soon, within the next few years
 It will probably go ahead at some point
 It will likely never happen

5. How closely have you been following the Kinder Morgan protests in Burnaby, British Columbia?

Very closely -- Read a lot of stories and discussed it with friends and family
 Closely following the issue, and having the odd conversation about it
 Not following that closely, just scanning the headlines
 Not following it at all

6. Based on what you have been, read or heard do you support or oppose each of the following.

- a) The protests against the expansion of the Kinder Morgan pipeline
- b) The expansion of the Kinder Morgan pipeline through Burnaby, British Columbia
- c) The idea of the company consulting more with the communities concerned about the pipeline

Support

Oppose

7. And, what do you think will ultimately happen with the proposed Kinder Morgan pipeline expansion?

Do you think:

It will go ahead despite the protesters

It will probably go ahead even if the protests slow it down

It will likely never happen, especially with these latest protests

8. Finally, in other news, gas prices at the pump are now at the lowest point in four years, down roughly 30 percent from this summer. What kind of impact, if any, do these lower gas prices mean for you personally?

No impact at all

Very minor

Some impact -- I notice it

A major impact -- I definitely feel the savings
