

Extended adolescence

Changing topics again ...

QX1. Below is a list of demographic trends that have been happening in Canada. In your opinion, is each one good, bad, or neutral for Canadian society as a whole?

[KEEP THIS ORDER]

More people living with their parents into their mid-twenties

People getting married older

Fewer people getting married

People having fewer children

People having children older

Very bad

More bad than good

Neutral

More good than bad

Very good

QX2. Which of the following statements is closest to your opinion?

Young people starting out today have it harder than past generations

Starting out has always been tough, young people today are soft

QX3. In your opinion, which items on the following list, if any, must a person achieve in order to be considered "an adult"? In other words, a person is not an adult until they...

[RANDOMIZE]

Turn a certain age (i.e. 18 or 19)

Finish school

Achieve financial independence

Live away from their parents

Get married

Have children

Get a full-time job

[ANCHORED, EXCLUSIVE] None of these