Since last spring, the land border between Canada and the United States has been closed to non-essential travel, such as tourism and recreation. This means you can't drive or otherwise cross the Canada-U.S. border unless your travel is deemed essential (you can still take a flight).

The federal government says the Canada-U.S. land border will not be re-opened to non-essential travel until 75 per cent of Canadians have been fully vaccinated. Right now, close to 40 per cent have had two doses of vaccine. There are some projections that 80 per cent of the country will be fully vaccinated by the end of July.

Suppose it was your decision. When would you re-open the Canada-U.S. land border?

Immediately/right away
When 50% of Canadians have been fully vaccinated

When 75% of Canadians have been fully vaccinated
When more than 75% of Canadians have been fully vaccinated
